

LAYFTC PRESENTS:

Member Highlight

layouth1st

layouth1st Member Highlight: Junha Gu 🥳

LAYFTC wants to highlight our member Junha Gu! Junha is part of the LAYFTC Project Development Committee.

Junha Gu is a molecular biology major in his fourth year at Pomona College. He identifies as a 1.5 generation Korean American. He aims to go to medical school and to one day serve patients from medically underserved, low-income, and immigrant populations. Junha enjoys listening to Korean music, going bowling, and analyzing movies with friends.

As a prevention specialist intern with

Liked by be_well_glendora and others

MAY 25

Add a comment...

Post

Highlight Introduction

Junha Gu is a molecular biology major in his fourth year at Pomona College. He identifies as a 1.5 generation Korean American. He aims to go to medical school and to one day serve patients from medically underserved, low-income, and immigrant populations. Junha enjoys listening to Korean music, going bowling, and analyzing movies with friends.

What is Junha's role in Project Break Free & LAYFTC?

As a prevention specialist intern with Project Break Free, he is interested in developing a more holistic understanding of health and promoting public health in Los Angeles. He is currently producing public health education materials, presenting about tobacco to community members, and participating in research regarding tobacco-related policies with the Project Development Committee with Los Angeles Youth First Tobacco Coalition (LAYFTC).

As a prevention specialist intern with Project Break Free, he is interested in developing a more holistic understanding of health and promoting public health in Los Angeles. He is currently producing public health education materials, presenting about tobacco to community members, and participating in research regarding tobacco-related policies with the Project Development Committee with Los Angeles Youth First Tobacco Coalition (LAYFTC).

Thank you, Junha! LAYFTC appreciates you for your hard work and dedication in promoting health equity among youth in the Greater Los Angeles Area

Quote icon, Like icon, Comment icon, Share icon, Bookmark icon

Liked by be_well_glendora and others

MAY 25

Add a comment...

Post